

GLACIUS

SKI TRAVEL SPECIALISTS

Glacius Travel is an independent ski travel specialist with a very simple raison d'être - to provide unrivalled bespoke winter breaks to individuals, groups and corporates worldwide.

Founded by former corporate lawyer and avid skier Ian Barrie, we pride ourselves in providing a professional approach with a personal touch. Enjoy Glacius' independence as we provide honest advice regarding accommodation, ski schools, childcare, restaurants and all other aspects of your alpine break. Further, enjoy the burden being lifted from your shoulders as we take care of all bookings with rigorous attention to detail. From the initial consultancy until your safe return home, we aim to ensure that every requirement is not just seamlessly met but often exceeded.

With a deep understanding of corporate culture, we understand what it takes to wow clients, thank customers or to bond a team. In partnership with leading in-resort operators, Glacius is placed to deliver a trip like no other.

We at Glacius Travel have chosen selected resorts in Switzerland, Austria, France and Italy; each resort offering a special 'something'.

This allows us to place you and your party in the most appropriate resort, leaving nothing to chance. Of course, if you have a specific resort in mind which does not feature in Glacius' portfolio, we would be delighted to research this and present options for your consideration.

Our favourite resorts and a few words about each are set out in our website: www.glaciustravel.com

We look forward to placing you somewhere very special.

Planning your next winter break could not be easier. Our flexible approach ensures every aspect of your trip is tailored to your exact requirements.

Individuals

Whether you choose the slopes for a sole winter adventure, to meet new people, have a romantic break or for a family holiday full of action, great food and endless fun, Glacius Travel has options to fit a range of budgets and requirements. We pride ourselves in expert analysis of your needs and a professional approach from the outset, and with a carefully chosen, ever-growing portfolio we are confident that you will be well looked after from our initial consultancy until your safe flight home.

Groups

It is our view that a ski and snowboard holiday has an added dimension when taken as a group. According to your requirements, Glacius Travel will place your party in what we believe to be the ideal surroundings. Flights, resort choice and accommodation will be carefully considered, with a range of options being presented to the group before any decision is made. Whatever the occasion, the perfect combination of luxury, relaxation, après and skiing will be the end result.

Corporates

Glacius Travel is a natural choice for corporates. We have a deep understanding of corporate culture at the highest level and know what it takes to provide a seamless trip, whether it be a client "thank you" or an internal trip with your colleagues where the skis are on and phones are off. We partner with a number of leading hotels and other high end providers throughout the Alps so that anything from conference facilities to a 5 star helipicnic on the piste can be arranged with ease. Waste no time and drop Glacius a line to start planning your corporate break.
